29. (C) Protection of Civil Rights Act

The Protection of Civil Rights Act addresses offences arising from untouchability. Its reported provisions also had electoral consequences, but the law was not confined to a single legislature or elections alone.

30. (C) Both 1 and 3

Statements 1 and 3 are correct: the offences were made cognizable and the electoral consequence covered both types of legislature. Statement 2 is incorrect because the reported disqualification applied following conviction, not mere accusation.
